Fareham TODAY

Leisure Centre Update
Meet the Mayor
Access all Areas

Summer
is here

A message from the Executive Leader of Fareham Borough Council, Councillor Seán Woodward

Summer is a fun time for everyone and this issue includes lots of things that are happening across the borough that you can all enjoy in the warmer (and colder!) months.

A new skate park was installed in Park Lane earlier this year and has already proved very popular with the younger residents. It's much bigger and has more features for skateboarders, scooters and BMX riders to enjoy. The new play area for the little ones is also complete and has recently opened at the site.

Work on the new Holly Hill Leisure Centre in the Western Wards has started and plans are well underway ready for it to open next summer.

Access All Areas is running during the summer holidays again this year. The scheme offers 11-17 year olds free outdoor activities across various locations in the borough. We are also introducing Mini Play Festivals for the younger children which will run alongside Access All Areas. See the dates on page 18 and 19.

We welcomed the new Mayor and Mayoress in May. Cllr Mike Ford and his wife Anne will be supporting the Dave Wellman Cancer Trust and Gosport and Fareham Inshore Rescue Service as their chosen charities this year. There will be various events that you can go along to throughout the year to help raise money for these causes.

Lots of exciting things have been happening at Daedalus. The Innovation Centre is successfully up and running after it was completed earlier this year. The Council also invested £1.5m into a new and improved runway, and the airfield was granted a Civil Aviation Authority (CAA) Aerodrome licence. All of the land at Daedalus in the Fareham boundary has also now been handed over to the council.

Finally, both the Welborne Plan and the Development, Sites and Policies Plan for the Borough have recently been adopted and put in place by the Council. We will be telling you more about these in the near future.

Making Park Lane better

The Council started work on an exciting project this spring to improve the existing outdoor facilities at Park Lane Recreation Ground, as well as creating some new ones.

Photograph: Matt Simmons

Get fit outdoors

We have installed stainless steel, low impact gym equipment at the site which are free to use and designed for age 14+. Items include a health walker, rower, ski stepper, chest press, ladders, parallel bars and a vault bar.

Stubington Recreation Ground and St John's Park in Locks Heath also have outdoor gym equipment, which are very popular with residents!

A new play area

Another big improvement to Park Lane is the children's play area. Installed in 1996, its location underneath the trees wasn't ideal. But, not only has the new play area been completely refurbished, it's also been relocated.

The new facility is now much larger than before and has more to offer, including a trampoline, teepee and large picnic area.

Skate Park

Designed by skaters, a new concrete skate park replaces the old metal skate ramps. It provides 13 features and can be used by skateboarders, BMX riders, scooters and skaters.

The skate park has something for everyone, whether you're experienced or new to the sport. It has already been a massive hit with young people and is proving to be very popular!

FAREHAM
 BOROUGH COUNCIL

IT'S PLAY TIME!

The council has been updating some of the 43 play areas across the borough, all in time for the summer!

Recently Refurbished...

King George V Play Area is one of three play areas that have been completely refurbished, in time for the school summer holidays.

Children at Locks Heath Junior School helped us decide what new equipment should go in the play area. The facility now includes more equipment than before, and is suitable for both toddlers and juniors. It also includes an inclusive roundabout suitable for wheelchair users, as well as more seating and picnic tables.

We have upgraded Birchen Road Play Area, one of our oldest play areas, with several new pieces of equipment too!

Abshot Road play area has also been refurbished and now includes an additional piece of equipment suitable for toddlers. The mini skate ramp has also been refurbished.

New dish roundabout at Warsash

Mini Makeovers in time for the summer

We are in the final stages of giving 'mini makeovers' to some of our tired looking play areas.

Old equipment will be painted, missing items reinstated, safety surfacing improved and fencing and seating areas will be painted in 20 of the Borough's play areas.

For a full list of the play areas being 'made over' in time for the summer please visit www.fareham.gov.uk/minimakeovers

Getting involved

We reviewed our 43 play areas last autumn and from the feedback we received, we have identified a programme of play area refurbishments.

Later this year, Stubbington Recreation Ground and Segensworth play area will be completely refurbished.

Course Park Crescent play area will receive additional pieces of play equipment and we will look at further improvements to Blackbrook Park play area.

We have already made a start consulting with local residents about the proposed play area improvements and have joined up with the Fareham Play Rangers on occasions, but if you haven't yet had a chance to get involved and would like to comment or even suggest items of equipment to include, please visit www.fareham.gov.uk

Excitement builds as new leisure centre takes shape

A new name

Holly Hill Leisure Centre is the name of our new multi-million pound leisure facility being built on the site of the old Coldeast Hospital in Sarisbury Green.

Almost 500 pupils from Sarisbury Infant School, Sarisbury Junior School and Park Gate Primary School voted from a choice of Holly Hill Leisure Centre, Woodlands Leisure Centre and Coldeast Leisure Centre.

The votes were close, but Holly Hill came out on top!

Building the Leisure Centre

Construction of the new £9m Leisure Centre started in June. The initial ground works and earth moving is progressing well and the steel frame should be erected in October. Following this, the roof and exterior cladding will be installed.

By the end of 2015, the exterior of the Leisure Centre will be complete. Work will then start on the inside of the building to complete the swimming pool, install the heating and ventilation systems, complete the changing rooms and fit out the facilities. The car park and landscaping of the site will be the final stage of the works.

Building work is scheduled to be complete in summer 2016. The Leisure Centre will then be handed over to 'Everyone Active' who will manage and operate the centre on behalf of the Council.

There's more...

As well as the Leisure Centre, there will be 2 new football pitches for use by junior teams, a children's play area and a multi-use games area (MUGA). Pupils from local schools have been helping us to decide what equipment should go in the play area.

The play area and MUGA will be installed once the Leisure Centre and football pitches are complete. There is also a large area of land, already managed by the Council's Countryside Service and supported by volunteers, that includes woodlands, meadows, a pond and an orchard.

No cemetery

It has been decided that the proposed cemetery will not be built at the site at this time.

Facilities will include:

- a 25 metre pool with 6 swimming lanes
- a learner pool
- a gym with over 100 pieces of equipment
- cycle spinning studio
- dance studio

Fareham Farmers' Market

You may have noticed the Solent Enterprise Zone at Daedalus has been undergoing quite a transformation over the last year and work continues both inside and out.

Ownership transfer to the Council

In April the Council took ownership of two thirds of the land at Daedalus, including the airfield, with the remaining land located in Gosport staying with the Homes and Communities Agency.

Fareham Innovation Centre at Daedalus opens for business

The Council received the keys to the £5.3m Innovation Centre from contractors Bouygues back in March. The centre contains office space and workshops for new businesses, with a focus on the engineering, aerospace, aviation and marine industries and is set to create around 150 new jobs.

Oxford Innovation is managing the Centre on behalf of the Council, and has already welcomed a number of tenants to the site. One such business is LIOS, a cycle design-and-build company, set up and run by former Royal Marine and war hero, Steve McCulley.

Enterprising year for Daedalus

Steve has signed up to a high-bay 624 sq ft workshop which provides an ideal environment for light manufacturing and engineering companies undertaking research, testing and product development work.

More Investment

A precision engineering company, Universal Tools, has been awarded financial assistance through the Solent Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) to help them secure new purpose-built premises on site. Construction work commenced in March of this year and the new building will help the company retain 57 jobs and create around 40 new ones over the next 5 years.

Work to provide the roads and services within the Daedalus Estate needed to enable the development of the north-eastern part of the site started in April.

CEMAST 1st birthday

July sees the first anniversary of the official opening of Fareham College's Centre of Excellence in Engineering & Manufacturing

Advanced Skills Training. Hundreds of students have already benefited from the state of the art facilities and the centre's expertise has already proven attractive to companies looking to locate at the Enterprise Zone.

Lift off for runway

The main runway at Daedalus has been resurfaced with the help of £1.5m funding from the Council. The first official flight took place in March.

This upgrade was an important factor in the airfield being awarded an Aerodrome Licence by the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA). The licence will help open up the airfield to a greater variety of aircraft and help boost job opportunities on site.

We are now developing a vision for the airfield and will be consulting with you on this during the summer.

Operatives from Building Services Team

Can we fix it? Yes we can!

The Council has successfully brought Building Services in-house and has slashed the amount of time our tenants can expect to wait for repairs by a staggering 90%, meaning you now only have to wait an average of six days.

We are responsible for repairs and maintenance of 2371 properties and a portfolio of public buildings, undertaking both planned maintenance projects and a responsive service for our residents.

Since 2010, most of the responsive repair work was completed by a contractor. This meant that, as one of a number of customers, Fareham residents were not necessarily given priority.

“Not only are our customers happier, our tradesmen are too.”

Following a successful trial of bringing the work in-house, we now have 16 operatives across a variety of trades including electricians, a gas fitter and a plasterer.

This is all thanks to Vanguard; consultants that the Council has been working with to look at the way in which we do things and to make things better for our customers.

This new way of working has meant that we focus on the needs of each individual customer. We now ask the customer when it is convenient for them to visit and carry out the work. Tradesmen now have vans fully equipped with materials, so if further repairs are needed at the property it can be carried out there and then, rather than going back to the office to fill in paperwork. This has been really successful and has led to 74% of jobs being completed in a single visit.

Not only are our customers happier, our tradesmen are too. They know that they have been able to provide customers with the best possible service in a fraction of the time it would have taken previously - so that means lots more smiles ...all round!

Lighthouse 65

An award winning coastal retreat with a Hollywood connection.

Lighthouse 65, Hill Head was completed in 2011. It sits next to the Osborne View pub, seven metres below road level and backs directly onto the beach. The house has received numerous awards for its architecture but, for the retired couple who live there, it just feels like home...

Stairway to haven...

Few homes in Fareham are accessed via the roof but the topography of the land places Lighthouse 65 so far below street level that only the roof is visible from the road. The entrance, a stylish glass dome, sits on the roof from where the stairs lead down into the stylish living space on the first floor and three bedrooms below.

Taking its inspiration from traditional beach pavilions, such as the De La Warr in Bexhill, West Sussex, the property was designed by Winchester-based architects, AR Design. Echoing the De La Warr, a wall of glass spans the entire width of the property framing a stunning seascape of the Solent and the Isle of Wight. Furthermore a balcony leading from the open plan kitchen and lounge overlooks the beach below.

Mr Bond, I presume

It would be easy to imagine Judi Dench as M seated on the vast white sofa, scotch in hand and looking out at stormy skies as she gives Daniel Craig a dressing down. And actually, he would certainly feel at home in the en-suite bathroom. Apparently, the builder knew someone who worked on the set of Casino Royale and when it was all dismantled after filming, he was able to retrieve the elegant grey wall tiles before they were thrown away!

Labour of love

For retired owners, Lynne and Adrian Sproson, realising their dream of the perfect retirement home took three long years to achieve. It began one evening when they were strolling along the beach and spotted an Edwardian red brick house, Ingleside.

They bought it in 2009. Both house and gardens were in a sorry state of neglect, having been empty for 10 years. Their vision was to demolish it and build something contemporary, making the most of the glorious coastal location. The project wasn't all plain sailing. In January 2010, a landslide on the other side of the adjacent Osborne View pub meant the road was closed for eighteen months. This made it difficult for their contractors to access the site, just as work was about to begin. Because of this they spent £100,000 reinforcing the bank and also had extra flood defences put in round the side of the house.

Another challenge was finding the right contractors to turn their bold vision into a reality – the couple used several different engineers and builders during the process. However, despite a three-year labour of love, you can just tell as they gaze out together from the balcony, that it has actually all worked out pretty well in the end. In fact, you might say, it's all worked out perfectly!

Bringing people and parks together

We love our parks and green spaces and each year plant new, diverse and interesting species, to add to the horticultural collections which we are proud to have established.

Beside the seaside

The theme for the summer is 'Some like it Hot' with bright, rich colours such as pink, purple, orange, red and yellow.

The new theme for the planting starting this autumn will be 'Beside the Seaside', taking the influence of our coastal location with a colour palette of blues, greens, yellow and silver.

Free bulbs

Bulbs are one of the easiest plants to grow and we have been planting them with the community now for 24 years.

If you are a residents' group, community organisation or a school you can collect free bulbs from St Margaret's nurseries,

St Margaret's Lane, Titchfield, PO14 4BL
between 9am – 5pm from Monday 7
September – Sunday 13 September.

Simply turn up with proof of address and you will be given the bulbs to plant in the community for everyone to enjoy.

These will be given on a first come, first served basis and sacks are limited to two per group.

Bringing the 'Bloom' to North Fareham

The Fareham in Bloom volunteer team work across the Borough to bring gardening and horticulture to the community. Working with the Council, and with sponsorship from Fareham Shopping Centre, green areas at Nashe Way in Fareham are beginning to bloom.

Last October, hundreds of bulbs were planted and these burst into bloom this spring to give a welcoming splash of colour.

A meadow planting workshop was held in April where residents were able to learn about the subject and sowed a new meadow which will provide a fountain of colour this summer.

Transforming Quay Street roundabout

Quay Street roundabout has undergone an extensive makeover with a stunning new landscaping scheme providing a vibrant and inviting gateway to the Borough.

The project has been funded through Hampshire Highways from money received as part of the Tesco development to bring it up to the high standard for which Fareham's award winning planting schemes are renowned.

Meet the Mayor

Hailing from the Warsash Ward, Councillor Mike Ford is the Mayor of Fareham for 2015-16. He takes up office with his wife Anne as his Mayoress. We met with Mike to discuss his new role.

For more information about the Mayor's charity events please visit www.fareham.gov.uk/mayor

What are you eager to get involved in?

It is a huge honour and a privilege to be Mayor of Fareham for the 2015/2016 year.

We know that an enormous amount of work is put into our Community by many volunteers, charities and organisations. We are particularly looking forward to hearing more about these and being able to thank many of those involved for their efforts on behalf of our town.

Meeting the many folk that make Fareham such a vibrant place to live is also high on our list. Indeed we hope to see many of you at the events and functions that we will be attending.

Can you tell us about your charitable side?

This year my Mayoral charities are the Dave Wellman Cancer Trust and Gosport & Fareham Inshore Rescue Service.

The Dave Wellman Cancer Trust (DWCT) was set up in 1999 by Dave Wellman's widow, Tina Wellman-Hawke and, to date, has raised over a quarter of a million pounds towards purchasing and funding equipment for cancer research.

The Gosport & Fareham Inshore Rescue Service (GAFIRS) is an independent search and rescue facility covering the Solent and Portsmouth Harbour.

My chosen charities are very important to me and I am delighted to be able to raise awareness for these worthy causes.

Lastly, we hear you are no stranger to treading the boards...

We are both active in local dramatics and my most recent performance was starring as René in war time comedy 'Allo 'Allo.

I have also slipped into heels from time to time as a Pantomime Dame, so I'm well-versed in wearing heavy jewellery and fancy clothing!

A SUMMER DAY STROLL

Swanwick Lakes Nature Reserve

Swanwick Lakes is an enjoyable experience which allows visitors to unwind and find out about wildlife.

With map information boards and colour marked posts to guide the way, the reserve is ideal for family outings, a relaxing walk or for school trips and organised groups (booking is essential for groups and schools).

The Nature Reserve supports access for wheelchairs and pushchairs by providing partially surfaced pathways around the site. Wheelchair users can use their radar keys to open up the stiles around the site.

A Brief History

Managed by Hampshire & Isle of Wight Wildlife Trust in partnership with NATS (National Air Traffic Control Services), Swanwick Lakes is home to at least 24 species of butterflies and is decorated with wild flowers.

Wildlife sprung up across the abandoned clay workings, with the lakes taking the place of pits previously used by the Bursledon Brickworks for clay excavation.

The Tour

Starting from the Study Centre and Centre Lake is the Red Trail, a leisurely circular route which includes a public bridleway for cycling and horse riding. The boundary fence alongside this bridleway includes gates allowing badgers to visit the reserve for food.

Following the trail round, on your left is the meadow where cattle are brought to graze in late summer to early autumn for conservation purposes.

To the right you can glimpse New Hill, which was created using waste from the site's historic days, and has been sown with meadow seed mix.

Following the Red Trail a bit further you come to the crossing at New Road where there are three paths to choose from.

To the left is the Yellow Trail, a flat route leading you through the sparse 'young' woodland to a breath-taking view of New Lake sparkling in the sunlight.

Ahead and to the right is the Blue Trail, which circles Bens Lake and gives views of other picturesque lakes. A word of caution – the Blue Trail's bumpier path with its short steep slope might prove difficult for pushchairs and wheelchairs.

Taking the Yellow Trail through the woodland, why not stop for a moment at Longaldrige Pasture on the left to see if you can spot a deer?

Follow the path to the New Lake viewpoint for a great photo opportunity then continue along the Yellow Trail back to the New Road crossing. You can then progress to the Blue Trail (this should now be to your left and straight ahead).

Follow the path along Bens Lake to the jetty and keep an eye out for a kingfisher and nesting reed warblers. Further picturesque lakes include Toms Lake and Little Lake where children are taught to fish. This route is visited and secondarily maintained by the Park Gate Royal British Legion Angling Club.

Following the Blue Trail back to the beginning, cross New Road to rejoin the Red Trail and enjoy the 'other side' of New Hill, which will also host grazing cattle for a short time.

Follow the Red Trail back the way you came at the start and you'll arrive back at the Study Centre and Centre Lake, where you might spot ducks floating about on the water.

Getting Around

Most of the paths have firm, stony surfaces and benches every 200m. There are some steep slopes but the paths are flat elsewhere. The unsurfaced paths are waterlogged and slippery when wet because of the clay soil. The path around the eastern side of New Lake has around 60 steps, is less than 1m wide and has deep mud in winter. For more information on getting around the site, see the map or contact the Study Centre.

Red trail ●●●●●

Distance: 1km (3/4 mile)
