Foreword

By the Executive Leader of Fareham Borough Council, Councillor Sean Woodward

The Princess Royal visited Fareham in October to officially open the new Fareham Community Hospital in Sarisbury. I was honoured to meet Princess Anne (pictured below) together with other local dignitaries including the Mayor and Mayoress of Fareham (Councillors Brian and Susan Bayford). The Princess was given a tour of the new hospital, meeting staff and patients, before unveiling a plaque to officially open ‘Fareham’s Community Hospital. This is a very important event for our Borough as we have been without any form of hospital facilities for many years. Her Royal Highness then visited Fareham College to open a new sixth form centre there.

After the disappointment of Debenhams ‘pulling out’ of fareham, I was delighted to announce in November that a deal had been completed to open a department store in the town centre this year. Debenhams signed for an even larger store than the one originally intended and it is planned to open in the Summer. The renamed Fareham Shopping Centre Car Park, alongside Debenhams and Bhs and leading directly into the Centre, will be completed in time for the store opening.

With Next back in fareham and Tesco also intending to open at the end of this year, we now have an even better line-up of retailers in the town.

Financial pressures continue to challenge us all. The recent government spending reductions have resulted in the loss of 42 posts (about 10% of the workforce) at the Council, however due to careful management in tandem with a voluntary redundancy programme many of those employees whose posts were deleted have been accommodated in vacated positions in the organisation. Our top priority remains the delivery of high quality services to you, at the lowest possible cost. With this in mind I have asked the Council to agree to freeze the Council Tax again for 2011/2012.

I’m delighted to announce that a Freedom March of HMS Collingwood, led by The Royal Marines Band, Portsmouth will be taking place on Saturday 7 May at 11am in West Street, Fareham. HMS Collingwood was given Freedom of the Borough in 1974, and this entitles them to march through the streets of Fareham with ‘bayonets fixed and flags a flying’ once every four years (pictured left).

As always if there are any matters you would like to bring to my attention or suggestions you may have to improve the Borough we all share then I will be very pleased to receive them. I promise that all suggestions will be thoroughly considered.

Dealing with the Deficit

Last summer, in preparation for the expected spending reductions in the Government’s Spending Review (which were announced in October 2010) Councillors requested that the Chief Executive of Fareham Borough Council, Peter Grimwood, carry out a thorough assessment of the Council’s spending. This has identified where the necessary savings can be made, whilst avoiding an adverse knock-on effect for the residents of the Borough.

The Council has a long history of good financial management and of achieving efficiency savings. However, due to the large size of the national debt, some tough decisions had to be made by the new government to dramatically reduce public spending and reduce the debt burden on this and future generations.

Chief Executive Officer, Peter Grimwood said: “The review of spending was by no means an easy task and Councillors had to take some very hard decisions, looking at services identified by the public as being low priority and making sure that the front line services that residents say are important to them are not reduced.”

Most of the Council’s costs are on the salaries of employees who provide a wide range of services to the residents of the Borough. When carrying out the systematic review of the Council’s employee structure, the Chief Executive and Councillors had to look at many different aspects, including:

- a review of senior management costs
- a review of those discretionary services identified as a ‘low priority’ by the public through a residents’ survey carried out in 2009
- a review of ‘back office’ costs and
- a review of those posts which could be merged with others or delivered in a different way.

42 posts were identified for deletion and all affected employees were informed at the end of August.

The deleted posts were identified from right across the Council, including four Senior Management posts:

- Deputy Chief Executive Officer
- Head of Performance and Improvement
- Solicitor to the Council and Monitoring Officer
- Head of Finance

The majority of other posts deleted were from the ‘back office’, including areas such as accountancy, legal, personnel and ICT. No ‘front line’ posts, such as bin collectors, street sweepers or parks staff were deleted.

The Council had already saved £1.1 million from employee budgets over the previous year, to take account of the reduction in income caused by the recession. These savings were made by deleting vacant posts, making changes to departmental structures, offering redeployment and flexible retirement. The recent savings achieved from the Chief Executive’s review will mean the Council will have achieved more than a 17% reduction in employees from 538 posts to 445.

Executive Leader of Fareham Borough Council, Councillor Sean Woodward said: “Due to careful management in tandem with a voluntary redundancy programme many of those staff whose posts were deleted have been accommodated in vacated positions within the organisation. I hope that we have now reached the position where we have identified the necessary savings given that our government funding is set to reduce by 26% over the next few years. Our top priority remains the delivery of high quality services to our residents at the lowest possible cost. That is why I proposed freezing Fareham’s Council Tax for the second year running and am delighted that this year the County Council, Police and Fire services have followed suit.”

Fareham Borough Council continues to set one of the lowest Council Taxes in the country despite receiving one of the lowest levels of government grant.
Flood Protection

Wallington Property Level Flood Protection

The Secretary of State announced the launch of a national property level flood protection grant scheme to help protect properties in areas with a high flood risk, that don’t benefit from community level defences. We have successfully gained funding to protect 41 properties in Wallington Village.

The project provides flood protection to individual properties, identifying all likely points where water could enter. This means protection for doors, air bricks, air vents, pipe work, windows and the external fabric of the structure below a 0.6 to 0.9m threshold. Each property has been surveyed to identify the products required to protect it and those products will be installed at no cost to the owner.

Why Wallington?

Wallington has been an area at risk of flooding for many years. Flooding in Wallington can be caused in various ways:

- Fluvial, where water comes from excessive flow in the river.
- Coastal, where exceptionally high tides can overwhelm low lying areas of land
- Surface runoff, where a large volume of rain water accumulates from roads and the surrounding urbanised area.

Wallington was a strong candidate for funding due to several occurrences of flooding in recent years. The worst was in 2000 when over 40 properties were flooded. It aims to provide residents with the necessary measures to protect their property from flooding in the future.

Funding

Following the bid we were initially awarded £162,450 to fund flood protection work for 28 properties. These properties plus a further 13, were surveyed in line with the scheme guidelines. During this survey period we secured a further grant of £70,000 to extend the scheme so that 41 homes will now benefit. In total £232,450 has been allocated to the Wallington property level flood scheme by Defra.

Progress

Surveys were completed in October. Following a tendering exercise the contract was awarded to UK Flood Barriers and the installation phase began in early 2011. This stage will be completed by 31 March.

Public Consultation

During the course of the project, residents in Wallington have been consulted and were given opportunities to comment at open evenings and drop in events at the local village hall. The Wallington Village Community Association (WVCA) has also had key input to the project throughout. Our thanks go to the WVCA for their valuable assistance and the use of Wallington village hall.

Community Safety

Tackling Domestic Abuse

Fareham’s Community Safety Partnership is supporting the Police and working with local services to tackle domestic abuse across the area.

Together with agencies such as Victim Support and Fareham and Gosport Family Aid, they’ve launched the Fareham & Gosport Domestic Abuse Forum. The forum will work to ensure tailored services are available across the Borough to support those suffering from abuse.

Further campaigns will focus on raising awareness of this serious crime and encourage reporting of abuse by victims, concerned neighbours, relatives and friends.

If you’re a victim of domestic abuse, confidential advice and support is available to you by calling the 24 hour National Domestic Violence Helpline on 0808 2000 247. If you’d prefer to speak to someone locally, Fareham and Gosport Family Aid offers support and advice any time of the day or night, tel: 07967 387243.

If you’re concerned about a friend, relative or neighbour you can report these doubts anonymously, contact Crimestoppers, tel: 0800 555 111. For a link to the forum, visit: saferfareham.co.uk

Managing your money

Dealing with money issues can sometimes be off-putting and if you don’t understand how things like credit or mortgages work, you could end up losing out financially or getting yourself deep in debt.

You can avoid losing money and getting into debt if you have enough information to make the right choices. You’ll find a lot of the facts you need on the Citizens Advice Bureau website, including help to deal with your debt problems, how to avoid losing your home and how to get your finances back into shape. Or if it’s face-to-face advice you need, we’re here to help.

Rights for lodgers

Lodgers and sub-tenants have much less legal protection than other types of tenants – especially if they don’t have a written tenancy agreement.

Fareham CAB has helped several sub-tenants with landlord issues recently and is warning people taking this type of tenancy to check their rights by visiting our website (see contact details below).

How to ring the changes - without being overcharged

Householders who change their fixed-line telephone can end up being charged twice over. This warning comes from Fareham CAB which has been asked for help by people surprised to receive two sets of phone bills covering the same period of time.

The problem is that if you enter into a phone contract with a new provider, this will not necessarily bring your existing contract to an end.

Take the recent case of someone with a telephone service provided via a cable connection to their home. They asked for a new service via a BT line, but the new connection did not replace the old one – it was in addition to it. So the customer had to pay two lots of line rental.

The customer should ensure that, as well as starting a new contract, the old contract has been terminated. People who’ve changed their bank account or their gas and electricity provider may be used to the idea that the new supplier will see to all the admin, including terminating the old contracts. However, this is not necessarily the case with fixed-line phones. The CAB believes that telephone companies should be required to co-operate and ensure that contract switches are trouble-free. But this doesn’t happen in every case at present, so consumers have to be vigilant.

Case Study

When a will-writing company refused to return a client’s £495 fee after she changed her mind the following day, she turned to Fareham CAB for help. Because the sale took place in the client’s home she was entitled to a seven day “cooling off” period, but even after being told this the will-writing company failed to return her fee.

The CAB helped her to make a claim against the company in the County Court, which resulted in the repayment of her fee and expenses. See our website below for more about doorstep selling.

We're looking for volunteers over the age of 16 to assist the Play Rangers. If you'd like to find out more about volunteering at the play sessions, please contact the Community Development Manager, email: communityinfo@fareham.gov.uk or tel: 01329 824441. As part of the Council’s Safeguarding Children Policy, all volunteers will be required to undertake a short interview and complete a Criminal Records Bureau check in order to help assess their suitability to work with children.

For more information about the Play Ranger service, please contact Amy Kretowicz or Cheryl Balson, tel: 01329 236100, email: customerservices@fareham.gov.uk or visit: fareham.gov.uk

10:00 I take a phone call from a lady who runs a non profit making charity who would like to know about the Play Ranger service. I chat with her about how we can support and provide help to her organisation and arrange an appointment for Cheryl and me to visit her.

10:15 I put the next timetable together. Our timetables are for two month periods so we try and get them together a timetable in advance. I discuss with the Council’s Childcare Development Officers, the various sites we visit and we decide whether any changes need to be made to location or times.

11:30 Cheryl returns to the office and we make our way to a local primary school to deliver a presentation about a play park due to be located close by. We like to consult the children about the different equipment on offer and see which is the most popular. This information is then collated and the most popular pieces get picked for the park.

13:30 After lunch we head over to Ferneham Hall, where they’ve kindly allowed us to use their kitchen to make some salt dough shapes. During the Easter half term (11 to 25 April) we’ll be visiting the parks to let the children decorate the Easter egg shapes we’ve made for them. They can then take these home.

15:00 We make our way to our play session at Stubbington Recreation Ground. We prepare monthly plans for what we’d like to do at each play session so Cheryl has already prepared the van with the necessary equipment.

15:25 We arrive at our location and unload the equipment for this particular session and put out our flags and van signs. Now we’re clearly visible to everyone in the park. The equipment includes cardboard boxes for den making and painting, our football goal and balls and the balancing board which the children really enjoy. We also have other things in the van they can play with if they want to.

16:30 During our session the children want to play with and paint the boxes and play with the balancing board but also ask to use the soft play equipment and the tyre swing from the van. We have 28 children at this session which is great. We encourage everyone to come along! We take note of our numbers and the most popular sites and keep a record in order to report back to the Big Lottery which funds us.

17:30 We pack up all the equipment and make our way back to the depot, fill in our final paperwork, including the session review for the day and then head off home.

We have 28 children at this session which is great. We encourage everyone to come along! We take note of our numbers and the most popular sites and keep a record in order to report back to the Big Lottery which funds us.

17:30 We pack up all the equipment and make our way back to the depot, fill in our final paperwork, including the session review for the day and then head off home.

Getting Red Hot and Blue

Last year’s Fareham in Bloom was outstanding, with a host of accolades from both the regional and national competition entries.

With seven consecutive regional wins, five at gold level and silver gilt at the Britain in Bloom national finals, Fareham in Bloom continues to be at the forefront of parks provision in the region. Its ever developing, diverse range of activities involves the widest number of people in parks and green spaces.

Autumn 2010 saw the launch of the new theme Red Hot and Blue, when thousands of bulbs were given away to communities across the Borough to brighten their local areas. This was complemented by trees with red or blue flowers given as part of the tree adoption scheme in support of national tree week.

The new theme will be continued this summer when displays and hanging baskets will be made up of a contrasting palette of hot and cold with red and blue shades making for a striking display.

How does your garden grow?

Every year as a result of our Fareham in Bloom activities we see some spectacular gardens that make a real difference to the local street scene and the look of the area.

Communities across the Borough turn their love of gardening and the environment to the benefit and enjoyment of others, working together and lifting the spirits.

Our participation in last year’s national finals helped us greatly in looking at further development opportunities. We’re keen to work with new community groups wishing to improve their local green spaces, whether through creative planting schemes, care of the environment or people working together.

Our in bloom community gardening competition is open to all residents, schools and businesses within the Borough and all are entries are judged during the first two weeks of July on individual merit with awards of Bronze, Silver, Silver Gilt and Gold. These are awarded at a gala presentation evening to be held in the autumn at Ferneham Hall.

So how does your garden grow?

If you feel you or your street have that special garden then we’d love to receive your entry and participation. Simply complete the application form (left) and return it to: Fareham Borough Council, Parks & Open Spaces, FREEPOST, Fareham PO16 7RR

The personal information you provide will be treated with the utmost confidence and held for a period of no more than five years for the purpose of these activities, promotion of related events and the making of associated material. Should you wish to remove such information, please let us know.

National Referendum
On Thursday 5 May it’s likely that electors will have an opportunity to vote in a referendum on the parliamentary voting system. There are no Council elections due this year.

This will be the first referendum in the country for 36 years. Voters will be asked to vote YES or NO to a simple question about the voting system. An explanatory booklet will be sent to all households by the Electoral Commission a few weeks beforehand but here is what’s being suggested:

Voting systems
We currently elect MPs by a ‘first past the post’ system - the candidate with the most votes wins. It’s suggested we change to an ‘alternative vote’ system where voters rank candidates in order of preference. Anyone getting more than 50% of first-preference votes is elected. If no-one gets 50% of the votes, the candidate with the fewest votes is eliminated and their backers’ second choice votes are allocated to those remaining. This process continues until one candidate has at least 50% of all the votes in that round.

Will you be able to vote?
You’ll only be able to vote in the referendum if your name appears on the register of electors. If you have registered, you’ll receive a poll card in early April telling you where you can vote. If you have registered to vote by post, you’ll receive a notice telling you when your postal vote is likely to arrive.

If you haven’t yet registered to vote, there’s still time to do so. The deadline will be in early April so please contact the elections office as soon as you can.

Further information will be published as it becomes available. Please visit: fareham.gov.uk/elections or contact us, email: electionservices@fareham.gov.uk tel: 01329 824587 or write to: Election Services, Civic Offices, Civic Way, Fareham PO16 7AZ

Details may be subject to change. For a full list of what’s on and to book your seats, please contact the box office, tel: 01329 231942, email: boxoffice@fareham.gov.uk, visit: fernehamball.co.uk or follow us on twitter: @FernehamBalls
As part of our Environmental Sustainability Strategy, we’ve been making great efforts to reduce our carbon footprint. We’ve taken action to reduce energy consumption in our buildings and fuel consumption in our vehicles. This has been successful so far and 2009/10 saw a 12% reduction in our energy consumption compared with the previous year. We’re also looking at the potential for renewable energy in the Borough as part of a Hampshire-wide partnership.

However, to reduce the overall carbon footprint of the Borough, everybody in the Borough needs to work together by becoming more energy efficient, reducing energy consumption and reducing the number of journeys we make by car. Not only will this reduce our impact on the environment and help preserve precious energy resources, it will also help save money on fuel bills. Everybody can play their part and even the smallest actions can help towards making a big cumulative impact.

In recent months a number of community initiatives have begun:

The Greening Campaign is an innovative idea to help motivate people to reduce their energy consumption and lower their personal and community carbon footprint by committing themselves to a number of challenges. It’s based on the principle that individuals may feel powerless to change things on their own but that communities working together can make a real difference. The Council is supporting the development of up to five Greening Campaigns in the Borough and this has been enthusiastically taken up. The Stubbington Greening Campaign is the most advanced and held its public launch with a display at Stubbington Library in November. A second campaign in North Fareham is due to have its public launch in March. Further Campaigns are planned for Central Fareham, Portchester and Broadwalk. To find out more visit: greening-campaign.co.uk

Transition Fareham has recently been set up by members of the local community. It’s part of a national network of Transition towns and its aim is to make Fareham a more sustainable place to live and in particular to draw attention to the need to reduce energy consumption in the light of the depletion of the world’s energy resources. Like the Greening Campaign, its ethos is that acting as individuals may be too difficult, but acting as a community is the way forward to making real change. It also emphasises that small things can make a difference and act as a catalyst to greater change. As an example of this, one of its initial projects was to arrange the planting of apple trees at a number of junior schools in the Borough to help educate children on the benefits of growing and eating your own food (page 18). To find out more visit: transitionnetwork.org or youforum/transitionfareham/index.php

Greener Fareham is a new website which aims to co-ordinate information about the activities and events taking place around the Greening agenda in Fareham. If you want to find out what’s going on or if you want to contribute information visit: greenerfareham.org.uk

All of these initiatives are led by concerned members of the community and are designed to help remove some of the complicated scientific issues and mystique surrounding the future sustainability of the environment. Above all they aim to make addressing these issues interesting and fun.

For more information or if you’d like to support the Greening Campaign in your area please contact Mark Holt (Fareham), email: markjbholt@googlemail.com or Oriana Taylor (Stubbington), email: orianataylor1@yahoo.co.uk or you can email: info@greening-campaign to put you in touch with your local group.
Fareham today met with Steve Kent and Trevor Wright, Fareham’s glass collection crew, making their regular visits to the 35 glass banks across the Borough.

Q1 How much glass do you collect each year?
A1 The public do a great job recycling their glass, last year we picked up over 2,000 tonnes of bottles and jars for recycling.

Q2 What happens if the glass banks are full?
A2 Sometimes we arrive at a site to find one bank is full and overflowing while the others of the same colour are empty. People just haven’t checked and have left bottles around the site. If the first bank is full, please try another bank. You may find that even if one bin is overflowing, others of the same colour have space in them. If there’s a pile of bottles around the banks, please don’t just add to it. Leaving your glass around a recycling bank is no different to throwing litter near a litter bin. It delays the emptying process because we have to move the bottles before we can move the banks. If they’re all full please try another site, or come back another day.

Q3 Is it okay to fill the banks right up?
A3 No, if you try and force bottles into the banks when they’re full, the lids buckle, which makes it very difficult to remove and refill the padlocks when they’re emptied.

Q4 Can I recycle other types of glass in these banks?
A4 No sorry, only glass bottles and jars can be recycled. Sometimes, glass vases are left beside the banks but unfortunately we can’t recycle them as they’re a different type of glass.

Q5 How many times can glass be recycled?
A5 Glass bottles and jars can be recycled endlessly and there’s no loss of quality in the final product; no matter how many times the material has been recycled. It’s made into new bottles and jars, so when you buy products in glass, it probably contains some recycled glass.

Q6 Is collecting the glass hazardous?
A6 Health and safety is a prime concern. We have to judge when to put barriers out around the vehicle. In a small, confined site like Highlands Road, they’re vital to protect the public. People don’t look up when they’re walking along, and don’t see the large bin above their heads.

There is a risk that bottles can come out when the bin is tipped. We wear hard hats in case a stray jar or bottle comes across the top of the vehicle. It’s also incredibly noisy when a bin full of bottles is tipped, especially when the vehicle is empty; so the hard hats have ear protectors. We’re grateful to the public for their patience when they sometimes have to wait for a few minutes to recycle their bottles when we’re emptying the bins.

The Council operates 35 glass recycling sites, and there are also facilities in some flats. To find your nearest recycling bank, please visit: fareham.gov.uk/recycling.
Radio Haslar

Radio Haslar is a charitable organisation that broadcasts 24 hours a day, seven days a week and 365 days a year to the patients and staff in the Gosport War Memorial Hospital and can now be heard online too at radiohaslar.co.uk - click on ‘listen live’.

Radio Haslar began in 1993, broadcasting solely to the Royal Hospital Haslar, then in 1996 to the War Memorial, becoming a network. Sadly, due to the closure of Haslar Hospital, the station had to find a new home and is now situated on the first floor at Bury House in Thongate Hills, Gosport. The volunteers at the station built the new studios, office, music library and ‘racks room’ (which houses the transmission equipment) by themselves, only contracting help from a local carpet fitter and an aerial installer.

Radio Haslar is currently on the lookout for new volunteers aged 16 or over who can help with fundraising, request collecting, on-air presenting, assisting with outside broadcasts or joining the station engineers. Whatever you can do and whatever time you can spare will be very useful.

Please note that due to insurance requirements, we’re unable to offer membership to anyone under the age of 16.

Did you know that...?

- The Office for National Statistics, based in England and Wales, is in Titchfield, 365 days a year to the patients and staff in the Gosport War Memorial Hospital and can now be heard online too at radiohaslar.co.uk.
- More than simply counting people, the census also looks at characteristics belonging to a particular ethnic group; the number of people in specific age brackets; the number of people belonging to a particular religious group; the number of vehicles a household owns etc. The census describes the population at a national, regional and local level.

Far more than simply tracing family trees, the census provides the statistical blueprint for every community - including ours in Fareham.

For example, did you know that supermarkets use census statistics to work out the kind of foods they need to sell to keep local communities stocked up with their favourites? Water companies use the census data to plan the pipes for the whole of England and Wales, and Pisces use the census data to work out the kind of foods they need to sell to keep local communities stocked up with their favourites! Fire brigades and the police use census data to help communities, putting fire alarms and crime prevention measures in specific areas. The benefits are far reaching.

More than simply counting people, the census also looks at characteristics. This is the number of men, women and children; the number of people in specific age brackets; the number of people belonging to a particular ethnic group; the number of vehicles a household owns etc. The census describes the population at a national, regional and local level.

When the white envelope pops through your door with your census questionnaire in it, you’ll know that your confidential answers will help identify the services and facilities needed locally.

We don’t want anyone to fall behind so there’s a range of help options available (such as language guidance booklets, large print format, Text Relay and census field staff on hand, as well as online help and telephone call centres). If you need any further information visit: census.gov.uk

If you’d like to be a part of the team, please contact our membership secretary, Pete Fletcher for more information, email: pete.fletcher@radiohaslar.co.uk or tel: 023 9260 1600.
